Event Production

+ Space Planning

(3D drawings, virtual 360 drawings)

Through 3D drawings or virtual 360, the B&W design team can create the most complex room layouts, ensuring that your space precisely matches your vision.

+ Production Design

From initial idea board concepts to detailed completion, trust your general session, keynote, or special event to B&W designers and engineers, the experienced, collaborative professionals who ensure the realization of your vision.

+ Technical Direction

From video sources, digital effects, and transitions, to executing camera cues, our experienced and highly organized technical directors develop a detailed plan so your event proceeds from start to finish, without a hitch.

+ Lighting Design

Incorporate lighting not only for branding, but also to affect the mood and energy of your audience. B&W lighting experts provide a visual and emotional experience, creating the perfect atmosphere for your event.

+ Project Management

From initial engagement to conclusion, your dedicated B&W project manager works within your prescribed budget, identifying innovative and cost saving solutions while never sacrificing the quality and integrity of your presentation. From equipment detail, labor, and venue planning, to logistics and vendor coordination, our project managers plan your event to the finest detail.

Live Event Webcasting & Video Streaming

Although face-to-face interaction is critical, webcasting expands your audience, delivering information across continents, so attendees who are unable to be physically present, may fully experience and benefit from your event.

High End Displays

Realize your creative ideas and awe your attendees with presentations and video as vibrant and clear as your message. By utilizing 4K and seamless LED technologies, our experienced professionals deliver a solution suited to your specific needs—regardless the size of your keynote or tradeshow booth.

Labor Crewing

Although we would love to have your complete production business, we understand that you may only require professional crew. For these occasions, whether you're an event producer, AV staging or partner company, B&W provides the industry's highest skilled production technicians.
